

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. PREFACE TO MAGAZINE SUBJECT-INDEX 1910

The MAGAZINE SUBJECT-INDEX is now four years old—the 1907 volume covering many years, the subsequent issues being annual continuations. The usefulness of the work is evident, and a place in the index family assured. The rule which the editor adopted when he first planned this index—not to include any periodical which was covered by any other general index to periodicals—has been followed strictly. We believe the absolute lack of duplication thus insured is appreciated, though our circulation among the smaller libraries is materially cut down thereby. Librarians, however, are realizing more and more the importance of being able to direct an investigator to sources of information, even though not available in their own libraries. Thus the value of having at hand the MAGAZINE SUBJECT-INDEXES is apparent, as they afford a mass of references absolutely different from those in all other indexes. If only two indexes to periodicals can be bought, buy the MAGAZINE SUBJECT-INDEX and one of the others. This is the only way not to duplicate material.

Of the magazines indexed in 1909, two do not appear in the 1910 issue: Bibliophile, London, which ceased publication in Sept., 1909, and Hampton's Magazine (formerly Broadway Magazine) which has been included in one of the other general indexes to periodicals, and therefore must be dropped according to our rule of non-duplication.

Of new names we have two to record. American Forestry, which in 1909 was published as Conservation, became known under its present title in Jan., 1910. The Bulletin of the International Bureau of American Republics, which from Apr., 1909, to Jan., 1910, was called Bulletin of the International Union of American Republics, changed with the Oct., 1910, issue to Bulletin of the Pan American Union.

During the present year the African Monthly suspended publication (with the Feb. issue) though it has been announced that it may soon be resumed under new management. Van Norden Magazine ended its short career in March, 1910, having started life as a financial periodical and developed into an illustrated world-review.

Of the periodicals we have been indexing no issues have appeared during 1910 of Florida Historical Society Quarterly; Mazama; Missouri Historical Society, Collections; United States Catholic Historical Society, Records; and Washington Historical Quarterly.

Granite State Magazine has issued nothing since May, 1910, while Kindergarten Primary Magazine began in Sept., 1910, as vol. 24, no. 1 although no vol. 23 had been issued. It discovered its error in Jan., 1911, so in this index Sept. to Dec. are referred to as vol. 23.

The general plan and scope of the Index have been kept unchanged. Articles are entered under the subject—not by author or by title unless the title describes the subject. History, especially local United States history, is still the largest single subject covered. Thus references under Revolution; Civil War; Indians, as well as under the names of States and cities, and notable men and women, are most numerous. Forestry, Exploration, Architecture, Art, are well represented, and references will also be found to almost any subject. It should be noted here that all articles on the drama, theatres, and actors have been transferred to the Dramatic Index issued in connection with this volume.

The change from the heavy rough paper which was used last year will, we know, be welcome. Suggestions from librarians concerning new titles to be added next year are always welcome. Photo-Era, Boston, and The Public (weekly), Chicago, have already been decided upon for inclusion in the next annual. This volume has been compiled with the aid of nearly thirty indexers, and the editing has been carefully done with a view to making the work homogeneous throughout. The editor, after having done this indexing for three years, found that his time would not allow of its continuance. He wishes here to thank the collaborators who have so cheerfully accepted his invitation to assist.

THE MAGAZINE SUBJECT-INDEX, 1910.

EXPLANATORY.

Inclusive pages of articles indexed are given, making possible an accurate estimate of length. The volume, month and year, and author, are also given.

Where each issue of a periodical begins with page 1, the date is given between volume number and pages referred to.

il. means illustrated.

por., pors., mean portrait, portraits.

If an article concerning a person is marked "il." it means that among the illustrations there is no portrait, while "por." or "pors." would show that the only illustrations were portraits.

Articles by women have first name of author in full.

Cross-references are given in italics following the first entry of subjects.

Continued stories, and fiction by notable writers, have been included under the name of author.

The English editions of World's Work and Bookman here included are entirely different from the New York editions

The American edition of Pearson's Magazine here included is entirely different from the London edition.

PREFACE TO DRAMATIC INDEX, 1910.

As the youngest of the special indexes the DRAMATIC INDEX issues its second volume with a very satisfactory record for one so young. It is only through age and the advertising of its friends that such a special work can find its proper place and circulation. We believe that as each succeeding volume is published the work will become more useful and more in demand by the public. The inclusion this year of Theatre, N. Y., for 1906, 1907 and 1910, completes the index to that most important periodical for five years, as 1908 and 1909 were indexed last year.

An examination of the two annual volumes now published (1909, 1910) will convince anyone that this is the most complete index to the modern stage and its players ever published. There is hardly an actor or actress of the present time whose name does not appear from one to seventy times. Here are indexed practically all the plays produced during the last five years. Here may be found references to criticisms and to synopses of plots, to pictures of scenes, to the actors and actresses taking part in them. By a complete system of cross-references the authors of all our modern dramas may be quickly found or the plays produced by each easily determined. This, with the addition of players' birth and death dates, makes the DRAMATIC INDEX a useful work of reference, without recourse to any periodicals, as well as a portrait and biographical index. It not only lists what the periodical press of England and America has said and shown in picture, but it includes (under their subjects) a record of the dramatic books published during the year, with Library of Congress card numbers, and, usually, reviews of those books.

It should be understood that, unlike the MAGAZINE SUBJECT-INDEX which indexes only periodicals not included in any other index, the DRAMATIC INDEX covers the whole field of good periodical literature in English, for all the periodicals listed in the various general indexes and some nowhere else listed are searched for dramatic material and the results recorded. It may be thought that this field is sufficiently well covered in the general periodical indexes. Such is not the case. They hardly touch it. Take, for example, Maude Adams. The DRAMATIC INDEX for 1909 refers to thirty-seven portraits and thirteen articles; of the two principal periodical indexes one notes but nine portraits and two articles, the other has no mention of Maude Adams at all. Compare Shakespeare entries and the result is in favor of this index. Therefore we feel justified in trying to cover the whole ground.

Costume pictures of the Shakespeare, grand opera and other famous characters are often needed. We have included them as an exclusive feature of this index, under the name of the character, as well as the actor. The headings "Amateur theatricals"; "Plays (texts)"; "Dramas in foreign language"; "Theatre buildings"; "Opera"; "Pageants," etc., will show the completeness with which the subject in hand is covered.

The use of black face type for the first words of each entry will be found an improvement over last year's volume, and the change in the paper from rough thick stock to a smooth, thinner make will we are sure be welcome. It makes this volume look smaller than Volume I while in reality it contains considerably more material.

Our thanks are due our collaborators for their aid in this work, and are most heartily given.

January, 1911.

*Theatre, N. Y. is indexed for three years, 1906, 1907 and 1910, and as it is one of the most important periodicals devoted to the stage, 1908 and 1909 were indexed in Dramatic Index for 1909.

THE DRAMATIC INDEX, 1910.

EXPLANATORY.

Inclusive pages of articles indexed are given. If less than a page, the fractions ($\frac{1}{8}$), ($\frac{1}{3}$), ($\frac{1}{2}$), ($\frac{2}{3}$) are used after the page to give an approximate idea of length. The volume, month and year are given for each reference. Where month and year are given preceding the pages, it indicates that each issue of that periodical pages from page 1.

"il." means illustrated. "por.", "pors.", mean article with portrait or portraits. "Portrait" means portrait only, no article. "Portrait (in group)" or "por. (in group)" indicates that one or more other persons appear in the picture. Scenes and acts from plays may be either illustrations or text, and are distinguished by adding in brackets (picture), or (text).

Where books are included the Library of Congress card number is given when possible.

"Theatre" N. Y., is indexed for 1906, 1907 and 1910 (1908 and 1909 being covered in Dramatic Index 1909), every other periodical for 1910 only.
